“Good design can save time and money”

Every year, the finalists in the Greater Ottawa Home Builders' Association (GOHBA) Housing Design Awards are put on display at the home show. These projects, created by some of the city's most accomplished builders, renovators, designers and architects, are judged by industry experts, much like the Grammy's or Oscars, with winners in 36 categories. Today's consumer is also a conscientious one with increased interest in all things “Green”; this is reflected in the addition of a new Green Renovation of the Year sub-category. Categories include green renovations, renovations under and over $500,000 and custom kitchens. Don Westwood, an architecture professor at Carleton University and one of the judges, was quoted by the Ottawa Citizen as saying, "Design - which means 'thinking' - is now beginning to become part of what people expect... good design can save time and money."
